

Technical Optical Cable

Overview

This list includes both standards-based and real-world technical cable types utilized in fiber-optic infrastructure, telecoms, enterprise, and outdoor applications. OFC: Optical fiber, conductive OFN: Optical fiber, non-conductive OFCG: Optical fiber, conductive, general use OFNG: Optical fiber, non-conductive, general use OFCP: Optical fiber, conductive, plenum OFNP: Optical fiber, non-conductive, plenum

A fiber-optic cable, also known as an optical-fiber cable, is an assembly similar to an electrical cable but containing one or more optical fibers that are used to carry light. The optical fiber elements are typically individually encased in a protective jacket. Optical fiber consists of a core and a cladding layer, selected for their different refractive indices due to the difference in the speed of light between the two. In practical fibers, the cladding is usually coated with a protective layer. In September 2012, NTT Japan demonstrated a single fiber cable that was able to transfer 10 terabits per second (10 Tbps) over a distance of 50 kilometers. Although larger cables are available, the highest capacity is currently held by a 100-core cable.
